The event was highly successful and well attended.

Chairperson Sims also noted that Ken Follett, another internationally renowned author, had been on campus for the dedication of his collection of notes and manuscripts in the Zahnow Library and to give a public lecture in SVSU’s Performing Arts Theatre. Dr. Carlos Ramet, Executive Assistant to the President, was responsible for Mr. Follett donating his collection to the Library and for bringing him to SVSU as a speaker in the University’s Dow Lecture Series.

James G. Muladore, Vice President for Administration and Business Affairs, told the Board that the Auxiliary Operations include Student Housing, the Bookstore (managed by Barnes and

RES-1624    It was moved and supported that the following resolution be adopted:

WHEREAS, Sufficient bond proceeds, reserves for capital projects, and other unrestricted resources are available to fund the projects;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED AS FOLLOWS:
1. The Board of Control hereby approves each component of the Capital Projects Plan as described in Attachment A and a total budget of $18,900,000.
2. The President and/or the Vice President for Administration & Business Affairs are authorized to determine the specific cost of each component of the Capital Projects Plan but shall not expend funds in excess of the total amount approved by this resolution.
3. The President and/or the Vice President for Administration & Business Affairs are authorized to proceed with the Capital Projects Plan and each component thereof and to execute contracts and agreements related thereto. (See Appendix Five: Capital Projects)

President Gilbertson told the Board that the Capital Projects Plan involved sundry projects, ranging from the repair of the Ryder Center Natatorium’s air-handling system to converting the old outdoor theatre into badly needed storage space. Some of these projects, such as dining facilities renovations and expansion and parking, are self-financed and are not part of the General Fund.

Mr. Muladore reviewed the specifics of the attached Capital Projects Plan for 2005-2006. He noted that Doan Center was last renovated in 1993, at which time the campus population was approximately 7,000 students, 550 of whom lived on campus.

The motion was APPROVED unanimously.

The motion was APPROVED unanimously.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the attached revised budget summary for FY2005 be adopted. (See Appendix Six: Budget Summary)

President Gilbertson told the Board that this resolution is a mid-year modification of the budget passed by the Board in July, before appropriations and enrollments were final.

Mr. Muladore reviewed the attached General Fund Budget Summary. He noted that there had been only a very small net change in the budget – a 0.4% increase – which was due to a larger-than-projected increase in tuition and fees.

The motion was APPROVED unanimously.

Gabriel Soto
Duplicator Operator • November 2004

The sound of copiers and printers whirs relentlessly in the ears of Gabriel Soto as he spends his days in The Copy Center.

“They’re always going,” he said. “There are so many projects. I do things for the whole University, many different kinds of jobs.”

Soto produces everything from football playbooks to laboratory manuals, and business cards to insurance forms.

“Mondays are especially busy,” he said. “I may have to come in on Saturdays and Sundays to catch up so professors’ exams are ready on Monday.”

Despite the long hours, Soto “loves” his job. He says his work ethic has been present since childhood.

“All my life, I’ve tried to be the best worker I can,” he said. “I try to go the extra mile.”

One place where Soto learned his perseverance is in the boxing ring.

After getting his start as an extra to fill out fight cards if other boxers were injured, Soto fought as a flyweight in 12 professional bouts, finishing with a record of 10-1-1.

Soto found that the so-called sweet science provided rare earning opportunities for an 18-year-old Mexican.

“I needed the money,” he said. “The more I won, the more money I made.”

Soto used his winnings to pay for schooling in his native Mexico.

Soto’s days of athletic competition are behind him. Today, he devotes his energy to the sports activities of his sons, Gabriel, 13, Xavier, 11, and José, 2.

“I try to encourage them in whatever sport they choose,” Soto said.

A loyal SVSU football fan, Soto missed the Cardinals’ win over Grand Valley because he was attending a soccer tournament. He didn’t mind. His son, Gabriel, scored the winning goal.

While a student at SVSU, Soto played on the club team before soccer became a varsity sport, providing his own equipment.

“I look at the players now and they have everything,” he said.

Soto’s wife, Cathy, administrative secretary in campus relations, is also an avid sports fan and a past recipient of Staff Member of the Month (October 1996).

“I’m very fortunate,” he said.

Soto has held a variety of positions since beginning his career at SVSU in April 1987, but he enjoys his current post the most.

“People acknowledge what I do,” he said. “They say, ‘Thank you for a job well done.’ I appreciate that.”

Occasionally brings his sons to work to show them how to program the complex machines and show them “what education is all about.”

“I try to set an example not by preaching, but by doing,” Soto said. “They notice.”

Soto tells his sons to do well in school because he wants them to follow in his footsteps.

“I plan to send my kids to this University and make it a family affair,” he said. “One day, God willing, I want to see them graduate from here.”
Janna Kern's life revolves around music. It is music to her ears to hear a student express gratitude after receiving assistance choosing courses, and she enjoys making music herself on the piano.

"That's a passion of mine, getting involved in anything with music," Kern said. "Music is my first love."

When not reading sheet music, Kern helps students know the score to graduate.

"We usually go through a graduation audit where we see what classes they need," she said.

That process can often be time-consuming, despite students' preconceptions.

"Many students come in and say, 'I just have a quick question.' It's become a running joke around our office," Kern said.

"I just need to know what classes to take," and "Nobody told me" are also familiar refrains, according to Kern.

When students are disgruntled, Kern says the key is understanding the source of their frustration and getting them on the right path.

"It takes more time to point fingers and play the blame game than it does to solve the problem," she said.

Kern often shares her personal experiences, too.

"Not that long ago, I was a student here," she said. "There are some tips and tricks I can pass on. I like to think I have some wisdom to offer students."

Kern appreciates the cooperation she receives from her colleagues in academic advising and minority student services.

"I like everybody I work with. We're a good team," she said.

After graduating from SVSU, Kern spent five years in the engineering industry, working as a head hunter, but she was disenchanted with the constant stress and lack of ethics.

"I prefer higher education where the goal is seeing students do well," she said.

Kern gets to know many students personally through the Foundation Scholars program.

"It was originally designed to encourage students to study abroad, but what it's become is a living learning community," she said. "It has created some really strong connections to the University."

Now in its fourth year, the program currently includes around 270 students and will see its first graduates in May.

Social events are also part of the program. The group recently attended the SVSU Theatre Department's performance of "Dark of the Moon."

Kern is no stranger to the stage, having provided musical accompaniment to plays, but how she appeared there is a bit of a strange tale.

When Ric Roberts, now a professor, was a student, Kern was his advisor. When she mentioned that she played piano, his eyes lit up and he asked her to play for the musical "Scrooge."

"It was the most incredible experience of my life," Kern continued to tickle the ivories ever since, though she has never go away completely.

In her spare time, Kern visits her nieces, nephews and the relatives around the area. She also gives private piano lessons to students ranging in age from 8 to 45.

Kern is always happy to return to campus.

"Where else could I work where there are three Steinways?"

State Budget Director
Office of the State Budget
Office of Education and Infrastructure
George W. Romney Building, 6th Floor

Dear Ms. Lannoye:

Saginaw Valley State University’s fiscal year 2006 budget development request is provided in response to your August 31, 2004 letter.

We propose that there should be some consistency in the State’s approach to funding higher education for its citizens – whichever institution they might choose to attend. On one hand, it is the expressed goal of the State to increase participation in higher education and to produce more college graduates. On the other hand, virtually no financial support is provided to those institutions that have, as a matter of policy, been growing in an attempt to expand that opportunity. The result is that per-student funding for these growing institutions has dropped precipitously. The attached chart illustrates this point.

The State should determine a base minimum appropriation per student for each Michigan citizen attending a public university and adjust institutional budgets to at least reach that minimum level of support. This is a concept we have called “floor funding.”

If continued enrollment growth is a State priority, then clearly some financial support must follow students to their chosen institutions. Without such support, there is an actual disincentive for a university to expand its enrollments – thus frustrating State policy.

We propose that this per-student appropriation apply only to Michigan citizens. We should not be asking Michigan taxpayers to fund educational opportunities for sons and daughters of other states who are least likely to remain in Michigan after having enjoyed the opportunities our State provides. We understand, of course, that students from other states and countries add a great deal to our University and should not be discouraged from attending. On the other hand, they also pay a tuition premium that should be set so as to eliminate the need for any subsidy by Michigan taxpayers.
In summary, our policy recommendation is this: Establish a minimum per-in-state-student level of State support (floor funding) for each public university campus and make this a priority for any additional State funding that is available for higher education. (The FY2000 higher education bill included intent language for a basic funding floor of $4,500 per fiscal year equated student.) The effect will be to provide appropriate incentives and support for those institutions that have been growing and are most likely and able to continue to grow.

Sincerely,

Eric R. Gilbertson

"Graduation rate" means the percentage of students who have completed the requirements for a baccalaureate degree from the institution at either 4, 5, or 6 years following initial enrollment using the IPEDS Graduation Rate Survey (GRS) methodology. The GRS is based on a fall cohort of full-time, first-time degree/certificate seeking undergraduates as established for the IPEDS Fall Enrollment Survey. Report graduation rates to the nearest tenth of percent. Report actual data where available and estimates when actual data is not available with a (e) noted after the reported estimated data.
